

The use of cell phones on aircraft should be BANNED except when on the ground, as now.

It would be EXTREMELY ANNOYING to have to listen to trivial or serious talk going on in the crowded aircraft of today. It is likely to lead to cases of "air rage" and become a threat to passenger safety and wellbeing. People, in general, I believe, just cannot take any more invasion of the little quiet and privacy left on commercial aircraft. It would be impossible to get any work done. I will not use air carriers that allow this degradation.
